ED HRUNENI ELEVATED TO PRESIDENT OF THE PRIVATE INVESTIGATORS ASSOCIATION OF VIRGINIA

Dulles, VA – February 10, 2009 – Ed Hruneni, the Vice President of Investigative Services for American Security Programs, was recently promoted to the position of President of the Private Investigators Association of Virginia (PIAVA). Mr. Hruneni's current term as President will continue through late 2009.

As President of PIAVA, Mr. Hruneni will broadly supervise the organization's business affairs. His responsibilities will include coordinating with the organization's board to recruit and identify qualified committee appointees. Under Mr. Hruneni's leadership and guidance, the organization will continue to pursue its education and advocacy mission.

Mr. Hruneni commented, "We look forward to a continuing pattern of growth through the end of this year, and into 2010 as well. In the short term, we will remain focused on refining our communication strategies and our outreach practices. Our goal is to ensure that interested members will have even more opportunities to get involved."

The Private Investigators Association of Virginia (PIAVA) is a professional association with a membership composed of licensed private security businesses and registered private investigators. PIAVA represents the modern investigative industry in Virginia. The three-fold mission of the organization is to create networking opportunities for private investigators, inform consumers about investigative services, and advocate legislation that will prove beneficial to the investigation industry as a whole.

Mr. Hruneni is the Vice President of Investigative Services at American Security Programs. American Security Programs is an American-veteran-owned company that was founded in 1994. The company currently provides security manpower, investigation services, security consulting, and training services for a prestigious portfolio of government and private sector clients. Headquartered in the Washington, D.C. area, American Security Programs has earned its stature among the top security providers by practicing "hands-on" management and by delivering unshakably consistent performance.
